Loren Keeling’s debut novel, How a Spanish dream spiralled into a world of false promises, betrayal, and emotional abuse

Tuesday 1 August, 2023

Available on Amazon Post Separation Abuse, Betrayal & Abandonment, What Type of Man? Aims to change the way hidden emotional abuse is handled by authorities.

The three D’s describe a journey of Divorce, Death and Discard. A journey that was supposed to end in Delight; a happy fulfilled retirement with a good loving partner.

A life that should have been easy became anything but, with the threats of homelessness, belittlement and physical abuse. Loren’s story tells of how even post-separation the abuse continued, false promises and threats filled every thought, she has battled to find a resolution to a situation she never thought she would find herself in.

“Women are silenced in both private and public, with no prospect of change. If women do not tell their stories, how can a country's justice system be improved?”

-Loren Keeling

Join Loren as she raises awareness of how many legal systems fail victims of hidden abuse. With many actually favouring the abuser, allowing the abuse to continue for months or years before women find an escape.

It’s time to be part of the change we want to see in the world. Loren’s story like many others can only change the future of how abuse is handled if the story is heard.

Already writing the sequel Deception and Illusions, Embroidered With Truth Loren’s story is not yet over and she hopes to continue the conversation of how emotional and physical abuse affects every part of a victim’s life and how you can move forward after trauma.

Loren has never regretted moving to Spain, only putting her trust in the wrong person. Follow her journey to freedom and peace.
