

21 Elements of International Marketing - TranslateMedia's latest free tool for international marketers

Thursday 31 October, 2013

London, United Kingdom, October 23 2013 — Interested in taking your business global? TranslateMedia announces the release of an online resource to help businesses that are considering expanding into international markets. The 21 Elements of International Marketing includes insights into the best strategic approaches to:

- eCommerce
- Social media
- Display advertising
- Mobile websites or apps
- Display advertising
- Paid and organic search
- Multilingual CMS selection
- International PR
- Investor relations
- and more...

The reports are a must-have for business owners, entrepreneurs and digital agencies who manage international campaigns.

"Aside from language services, our clients are increasingly relying on us to provide them with market data, local knowledge and best practice information regarding entering developed or emerging overseas markets. We're continually expanding our knowledge and expertise in the areas of international digital and traditional marketing and hope that these reports will allow us to share this information with other businesses who are considering going global" said Patrick Eve, Managing Director of TranslateMedia.
