3nder announces $500,000 Seed funding.

Tuesday 20 October, 2015

LONDON, UK., October 19, 2015-- 3nder (https://www.3nderapp.com/) -- the leader for open dating -- today announced that it has secured half a million dollars in Seed funding from two experienced unnamed tech angels.

3nder, formerly known as the threesome app, is expanding to serve its real purpose.

Our perception of love is evolving beyond social norms. 3nder helps singles and couples open up to their sexualities, elevated away from social pressure. It is a place where humans do not have to abide by the artificial rules of an ageing morality. It gives curious couples and singles a beautiful space to show their true selves, explore their sexualities, and discover like-minded humans.

“Now that 3nder is close to reaching a million downloads, and the number of users has been growing rapidly in the past few months. It is evident that momentum is building, and that Dimo has tapped an underserved market." - Said Victor (one of the two angel investors) - "The beautiful design, as well as the improved usability of the last version, is attracting more users. We believe our investment will help growth by initiating active marketing and improving scalability for the next million users and beyond. Also, it will assist in preparing for a Series A in the following months."

3nder has been named “Top datings apps for 2015”

"Nowadays more people are looking for relationships that are designed with more freedom in mind for the partners. Everybody wants to have a great relationship, but many want as well the freedom to explore theirs either alone or with their significant other" - Said 3nder founder Dimo Trifonov - "Consensual non-monogamy for singles and couples is becoming more prevalent, especially among young people. We are building the first safe environment for open minded people where they can meet likeminded partners, and the response has been fantastic. We are also gender blind and orientation-blind, so everyone is welcomed!"

After this round, 3nder will start talks with investors or entrepreneurs that want to buy the rights to exploit the app in a particular country or territory.
