

95% Sold Out At Banyan Wharf, Shoreditch

Wednesday 2 October, 2013

Regal Homes are pleased to announce that following the successful sales launch of Banyan Wharf, Shoreditch, just two units now remain. Banyan Wharf follows on from the previous success of The Residence, West Hampstead, earlier this year.

This exciting development has been designed by award winning architects Hawkins Brown, renowned for their involvement in major projects such as the re-development of Battersea Power Station, London. The tower will be built using cross-plates, and will be "twisted" during the construction process to alter the traditional shape of the whole building, creating larger living spaces. Each apartment will have at least two aspects, and outside space including terraces, private balconies or gardens is offered with all apartments. A concierge service will also be available, further enhancing resident enjoyment.

Commenting on the success of the sales launch CEO Paul Eden says, "We are thrilled to be developing such a unique and innovative building, in one of the most exiting areas of London. The success of the launch proves that as with all of our developments, Regal Homes put a great deal of thought into both the location of our developments and unit types, to ensure that we are able to deliver the exact properties that suit our purchasers"

For further information on securing one of the final units in one of London's most important residential projects please contact Michael Goldmann, Sales Director on +44 (0)20 7328 7171.
