The quintessentially English Qcumber is a uniquely blended soft drink that combines natural cucumber essence and gently sparkling spring water to produce a subtle, yet distinctive taste that both refreshes and cleanses the palate.

When it comes to Christmas, this versatile soft drink and mixer soft drink is sure to add a little sparkle to your festive season. From office Christmas party to the Christmas dinner table, this unique beverage is a delicious thirst quenching alternative to the standard soft drink.

It's also the perfect partner for gin and vodka and is fast becoming a favourite amongst bar tenders – who are using Qcumber as an infused mixer ingredient to put contemporary twist on a range of classic cocktails.

The drink has the added benefit of being lower in sugar and calories than other leading soft drinks. Qcumber contains only natural ingredients and is free from artificial sweeteners, colours, preservatives and flavouring.

Available in 330ml (RRP: £1.49 and 750ml (RRP: £2.39) bottles, and is available in Tesco, Ocado, Booths, Harrods and leading health food stores.
