

ALFAcashier offers an all-new, fast and convenient method of Bitcoin to USD/EUR exchange

Monday 17 March, 2014

As Bitcoin is gaining global popularity and wide acceptance among service providers and online merchants, the ability to quickly and reliably exchange it for conventional currencies becomes crucial for a growing number of businesses and individuals. ALFAcashier is a new generation of online exchanges that is now offering a possibility to exchange Bitcoins for US dollars and Euros directly through any bank in the world.

March 12, 2014: ALFAcashier, a popular online electronic currency exchange, announces an update of the service that enables users to directly trade Bitcoins for euros and US dollars via any bank in the world, as well as to purchase Bitcoins for the said currencies. This option is primarily intended for European countries and offers extremely fast exchange and top reliability.

As a rule, Bitcoins can be purchased in the SEPA payment system for euros and dollars within 24 hours. All other operations in ALFAcashier are performed automatically in the 24/7 mode and are usually completed within 5 minutes. The service offers a clear and unambiguous user interface, a competent dispute resolution and technical support service, and fair rates for major electronic currencies. Registered users are entitled to a progressive discount based on the total amount of funds exchanged through the service and applied to the service commission.

"We are excited to offer our customers a possibility to use wire transfers to purchase Bitcoins in our service and, on the opposite, sell Bitcoins online and order a wire transfer to their account in any bank in the world," says Helena Schwartz, Head of Customer Service at ALFAcashier. "We strive to become a leading online exchange for electronic currencies and will continue working on improving the functionality and usability of the system."

Pricing and Availability

Registration in ALFAcashier is free. The service charges a commission on each exchange operation.
