American Road Patch™ Cleared for UK Use After Rigorous Testing, Receives BBA HAPAS Certification

Tuesday 17 June, 2025

American Road Patch™, the innovative asphalt repair solution that adheres to the road surface to seal and protect pothole patches, is now officially approved for use in the United Kingdom. The product has received certification from BBA HAPAS (Highways Authorities Product Approval Scheme), the UK's leading standard for road repair materials.

The certification follows a series of rigorous lab tests and successful field trials that confirmed the product's ability to stand up to heavy traffic, wet weather, and extreme temperature shifts. BBA HAPAS certification is recognized by all local authorities in the UK and is required before road materials can be widely used on UK roads.

"We're thrilled to have earned BBA HAPAS approval, and are proud of the work our UK partners have done to prove American Road Patch's performance across a wide variety of challenging conditions. This certification opens the door for municipalities and contractors across the UK to take advantage of a repair method that's faster, longer-lasting, and more cost-effective than traditional options." – Tim Geary, Inventor and Patent Holder of American Road Patch

American Road Patch™ provides a strong adhesive bond to existing surfaces, creating a watertight seal that prevents water from re-entering and causing further damage. The product was originally developed in the U.S. and has been successfully used across the country as a reliable, permanent patching system.

UK Road Patch is now accepting applications from Installers to install the American Road Patch System throughout England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland—including the Republic of Ireland.

With the BBA HAPAS certification now in place, American Road Patch™ is ready to help tackle the UK's persistent pothole problem with a proven, certified solution that reduces the need for repeat repairs and increases road safety.

About American Road Patch™

American Road Patch™ is a patented, peel-and-stick asphalt repair system designed to seal pothole repairs, cracks, and utility cuts. The product is engineered to be applied quickly, last longer, and reduce long-term maintenance costs.
