Assured Composite Launches New Decking Range with One of the UK's Largest Colour Selections

Thursday 29 January, 2026

Assured Composite, one of the UK's fastest-growing suppliers of premium composite decking and outdoor living products, has announced the launch of its latest composite decking range — offering homeowners, landscapers and developers an unrivalled choice of colours, finishes and performance features.

With outdoor spaces becoming an extension of modern living, demand is increasing for high-quality, low-maintenance decking solutions that deliver both durability and design flexibility. The new range expands Assured Composite's already extensive colour portfolio, allowing customers to create distinctive outdoor environments that complement contemporary and traditional properties alike.

The new collection includes a wide spectrum of natural wood tones, modern greys, charcoals and statement shades, enabling customers to achieve bespoke outdoor aesthetics without the ongoing maintenance associated with timber decking. Every board is engineered for long-term performance, offering excellent resistance to fading, moisture, rot and warping.

"We're seeing a huge shift in how people design their gardens and outdoor spaces," said a spokesperson from Assured Composite. "Customers want more than just standard brown decking. They want colour choice, clean architectural finishes and materials that stay looking great year after year. This new range gives designers and homeowners more creative freedom than ever before."

Customers can explore the full range online at Assured Composite, where detailed product specifications, colour options and installation guidance are available.

As part of the launch, the company is also strengthening its support for trade customers, offering fast nationwide delivery, competitive pricing, technical advice and free samples. Installers and landscapers can easily browse the full composite decking range and request samples directly through the website.

Beyond decking, Assured Composite supplies a complete outdoor solution including composite fencing, cladding, balustrades and outdoor furniture, enabling customers to create fully coordinated exterior spaces from a single trusted supplier.

The brand continues to invest heavily in product development, quality control and UK stock availability to ensure consistent supply and reliable lead times for projects of all sizes — from residential gardens to large commercial developments.
