Award-Winning Landscape Company Branches Out

Wednesday 23 October, 2019

Award-winning landscape contractors Kings Landscapes are growing their business, delivering their commercial expertise to even more residential customers, and bringing all their in-house tree surgery services to the domestic market, offering customers a one-stop, arboriculture shop. All of this is complemented by their brand-new website, designed to make it simple for customers to find what they need.

Based in Milton Keynes, Kings Landscapes has been providing high-end horticultural services since 2004. Many of their customers are large organisations, with high-profile clients including the Royal Air Force Museum and the Berkeley Group, and the company are multiple winners of BALI National Landscape Awards.

Increasingly Kings Landscapes are using the expertise gained on commercial projects to deliver upscale landscaping services to domestic customers.

The company applies the knowledge acquired working on large-scale projects to transform residential gardens and green spaces. David Houghton said “When we work with a big company or public authority it’s vital that projects are brought in on time and on budget. We also frequently have to work with different contractors who are delivering other parts of a larger project, as well as being absolutely focussed on delivering the vision of the designers we are collaborating with. All this experience is now brought to our domestic residential projects, giving homeowners the kind of landscaping service often reserved only for commercial customers”.

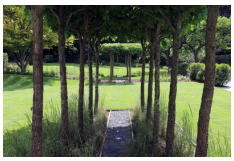

Kings Landscapes also offer clients the benefit of their end-to-end tree surgery services. All work is delivered by a qualified team who can provide everything from tree felling, pruning and crown lifting to stump grinding and chipping. As the company carries out all the work themselves, including clearing the site, most jobs can be completed within 1 day. Meaning customers don’t need to wait for completion and vastly speeding up the time for larger projects.

To speed the process up even more the new Kings Landscapes website allows anyone who is looking for a tree surgeon to upload pictures of the work they need doing. This removes the need for a site visit, with customers receiving free quotes for any work by email within one working day.

David added “As we move toward 2020 everyone at Kings Landscapes is excited to be able to offer all our clients even more convenience. The option to send pictures of jobs saves time for both us and our customers, and having a one-stop tree surgery division means much less waiting around to get things finished. We’re really looking forward to working with even more businesses and homeowners to bring beautiful landscapes to life across the country”.
