Barratt Brings Homebuyers 194 Homes in Staffordshire

Tuesday 21 January, 2014

More choice is on the way for homebuyers in Staffordshire from leading housebuilder Barratt West Midlands, as the construction of 194 new homes is now well underway in the village of Yarnfield.

The new development, Yarnfield Park is located just outside Stone and will bring a range of two, three, four and five bedrooms houses to the area.

The new homes are being built on disused land belonging to Yarnfield Park Conference Centre and will transform the area into a sustainable new community. Barratt will also be making a financial contribution to the local authority, a total of £3.7 million will be put towards local services, including education and public transport as well as various open spaces consisting of play equipment, a football pitch and sports pavilions.

Lucy Turner, Sales Manager for Barratt West Midlands, said, “We are thrilled to be making progress at our latest development in Yarnfield and we're looking forward to adding to an already thriving community.

“The choice of home styles will be ideal for first time buyers, growing families and downsizers.”

Yarnfield itself offers a village shop, post office and country pub. Eccleshall is just 10 minutes away offering a traditional village high street with boutique type shops and multiple destinations to wine and dine. Stone offers a Morrisons supermarket and also various eateries from Mexican and Italian to traditional English food, as well as many leisure complexes to choose from.
