

BestHeating.com Launch 'Timeless Classics' Sale

Wednesday 5 February, 2014

With the start of the new month, successful online heating store and specialists BestHeating.com are delighted to announce the launch of their 'Timeless Classics' February sale.

Following on from the success of their January sale, the digital heating retailer has reduced a wide range of stylish radiators, heated towel rails and valves, offering great discounts on quality heating products at what is for many, a frugal time of year.

Recognising the trend and popularity of traditional interiors in UK homes, the 'Timeless Classics' sale is exclusively applicable to traditional heating products, which can help achieve a classic look in the home and provide an important finishing touch in heritage-style interiors.

For a limited time only, customers can enjoy 15 per cent off selected items including horizontal and vertical column radiators, traditional heated towel rails in both wall and floor mounted designs and coordinating valves from the popular Milano collection. Featured radiators come in a choice of white and high gloss black finishes, while valves and heated towel rails are finished in stylish chrome.

All sale radiators and heated towel rails are covered by the same guarantees as non-sale items, for customer peace of mind.

The 'Timeless Classics' sale ends on 28th February, and has proved popular since its launch a few days ago. To visit the online store and browse sale items, click here.
