Binanche Chain Monsters (shorter) - Bichamon (BMC) - Is According to Experts the new DogeCoin.

A unique coin set out to bring real utilities in a never before seen ecosystem.

The unique rewarding system gives holders 8% of every micro transaction occurring in the game in addition to on exchanges.

And they are planning on boarding on millions of players for their video game through their partners in the Asian countries.

The cryptocurrency is run by a team with over 20+ years combined experience in the fields. Looking to combine the Blockchain Technology with Passive income, Gamification, NFT and various other features all in one.

Bichamon (BMC) also confirms that they have been taken contact with directly by various Centralized Exchanges, before even starting their presale.

Asking to be able to list Bichamon Coin (BMC) for their user base. Bittrue, Kraken, are just a few ones to mention.

Rumor has it that they already have signed some of the centralized exchange contracts and that the exchanges are just waiting for their "GO" for them to be available for trading.

They have often been refereed to by experts as the next Safemoon or Dogecoin. Not because they are the same in terms of utilities.

But rather because of the similar interest levels at such early stages, that investors and exchanges have taken on the projects.

There are various of ways to earn while playing the game:

Players can run around and capture the various of digital monsters they have created for the game and mint these as NFT and put up for live auction or sell directly to another player.

Players can battle gym bosses and each other - While agreeing to a bet amount and the winner gets the pot.

Players can gather resources required to make Bicha potions, Bicha balls, and other materials for a cheaper price in the game, and sell at the marketplace.

Hold BMC and earn passively on every transaction made on exchange and on every micro transaction occurring in the game.

The beta/demo version of their game is set out to be released in the end of December month.

And exchange listings are rumored to be just right around the corner around the same time.

This is without any doubt a note worthy coin that should be watched.
