

BLK Global PLC Announces Official Transition to Public Company Status; Sets Stage for Upcoming Listing

Monday 24 November, 2025

Glasgow, November 21, 2025 - BLK Global PLC ("BLK" or the "Company"), the tech company behind the democratisation of global trade, today announced that it has successfully completed its legal conversion to a Public Limited Company. This transition marks the final step before the Company's anticipated stock market listing.

After a record-breaking year, with revenue surging 360%, marketplace transaction volume increasing by 2,355% and total stock for sale on the marketplace reaching $11.7 billion, BLK is now well positioned to take the next step towards its public debut.

Democratising Trade and Ownership "BLK is built on the philosophy of democratising trade. Our mission is to allow trade without barriers for everyone, everywhere," said Gabriele Dadò, founder of BLK. "It makes perfect sense that we democratise our ownership as well. By entering public ownership, we are opening the doors for our users, partners, and the wider community to own a stake in the future we are building."

Strategic Rationale: Why Now? The transition to a public entity is designed to arm BLK with the tools needed for rapid expansion. The Company outlined four key drivers for this move:

- Currency for Acquisitions: As a public company, BLK gains a powerful currency to acquire synergistic enterprises. The Company intends to aggressively pursue targets that add new technologies, services, enter new verticals and markets.
- 2. Global Visibility & Trust: Operating in a public forum, underpinned by rigorous disclosure and transparency, will elevate BLK's standing on the world stage. This "trust premium" is expected to accelerate relationships with global partners and institutional investors.
- 3. Access to Capital: The public markets provide a robust platform to access the capital required to scale operations and enter new international markets quickly.
- 4. Incentivising the Builders: The move allows BLK to better reward the team building its technology, aligning employee incentives directly with shareholder value creation.

A Note to Investors: Watch This Space With the corporate structure now in place, BLK is finalising details for its official listing. The Company advises interested parties and potential shareholders to monitor official channels for the upcoming reveal of its ISIN, Ticker Symbol and Listing Date.

"We are moving quickly," added Gabriele Dadò. "We are entering this phase with a bullish outlook and a roadmap that is ready to execute. The bell is about to ring."
