Canova Medical Launches North West's First Soprano Ice "Painless" Laser Hair Removal Machine

Monday 19 August, 2013

Canova Medical, a well-known cosmetic surgery clinic based in Wilmslow, has recently announced that they will be introducing a new and advanced laser machine for hair removal called Soprano Ice in September. The company is offering six treatments at the cost of five if their customers book the full course.

Canova Medical is the first clinic in Cheshire and North West that is planning to introduce the Soprano Ice laser hair removal machine. The old model, called Soprano XL, was introduced in the UK five years ago and has already set the standard for pain-free laser hair removal. The latest machine is proven better and faster as compared to the previous model.

This latest hair removal device offers painless and quick treatment procedures. Unlike others, it is effective for all skin types. Experts have proven that the device is safe to use and is very effective. The Soprano Ice works by slowly heating the dermis to a temperature that destroys hair follicles. This can help prevent re-growth, but will leave the tissue more intact.

"I always felt uncomfortable because of my hairy back. I also never tried laser treatments because they were very painful! After trying myself the Soprano ICE, I was blown away by how fast and painless was the treatment. It took 7 minutes! Thanks to Canova Medical I gained back my confidence and I go on the beach without t-shirt," said Phil, a customer from Preston.

Canova Medical offers not just reliable hair removal devices, but extensive cosmetic surgical treatment as well. They have a team of professional and reputable surgeons that render outstanding services.

Since Canova Medical is dedicated in offering the best services and products to their customers, they are confident that the process of hair removal will be effective and pain-free. As expected, more and more people will avail the services offered by Canova Medical. With them, customers no longer need to spend too much money and time to solve their problems.
