Celebrating International Masturbation Month With Solo Sex Toys

Monday 18 May, 2015

To celebrate international masturbation month this May, we enlisted the expertise of sex toy retailer Magic Moments, to help us discover what toys are out there at the moment that really enhance solo sex.

At first glance Magic Moments, and other stores alike, are littered with hundreds of masturbation aids and toys. From male masturbators, artificial vaginas and sex dolls, right through to some rather intriguing pieces for us girls, including glass dildos, love eggs and my personal favourite, the We-Vibe collection of Vibrators.

However, looking beyond the kinkily smoked mirrors of every site out there, what solo sex toys really do go the extra mile? 'There is just as much excitement in finding your favourite solo sex toy, as the fun you have when you finally find it' says Tina of Magic Moments. 'Whether you're a lady or a gentlemen, there are of course lots of different options to experiment with. The fact is, despite admitting or not, we all enjoy a little alone time, whether in a relationship or not, so getting the pleasure you need, at the pace you want, is incredibly important.

Let's turn our attention firstly to the gentlemen out there, looking to enhance that rare bit of quiet time. The iconic fleshlamp, the Ripe Mouth Male Masturbator and the Glands Rotator Solo Sex Enhancer will all prove to be fantastic additions to your collection. Providing various pulsations and sensations during masturbation, this trio of Magic Moments bestsellers in the men's category have well and truly stood the test of time. 'A growing number of gentlemen are looking for realistic sensations during solo play. Throwing in the added excitement of vibrations too and you really are able to create a recipe for solo success between the sheets' says Miss Henderson.

For ladies out there looking for a true solo show stopper, the Water Bunny Rabbit Vibrator does so in spectacular fashion, not least because it allows us girls to enjoy all the naughtiness of water based play. Alternatively, the Good Times G-Spot Vibe is another toy turning up the volume on solo time, with its expertly angled tip promoting pin point stimulation of your sweetest of spots.

Made more so famous by Mr Grey himself, Vagina Balls and Anal Beads are toys you can practice with alone, before introducing them to your current or next relationship. Providing strengthening stimulation to the Kegel muscles in the first instance and incredibly tantalizing back door fun in the second, re-write your masturbation CV with these oh so kinky alternatives.

Experiment today and reap the rewards tomorrow with some of the very best solo sex toys out there on the market. Celebrate international masturbation month with the expertise of Magic Moments sex toys.
