

CEX.IO Receives In-Principle Decision from Gibraltar Regulator on the Path to DLT License

Monday 18 March, 2019

London, England, March 15, 2019 — The Gibraltar Financial Services Commission (GFSC) has given CEX.IO (Gibraltar) Limited, in-principle” status for obtaining the Distributed Ledger Technology (DLT) provider license.

The granting of “in-principle” status to the company means that CEX.IO Gibraltar is at the beginning of the final stage in the authorization process, where an applicant must satisfy the GFSC with final conditions before a licence is granted.

The DLT license is only issued to companies that demonstrate required standards for corporate governance, risk management, adequacy of resources, sustainability of the business model, protection of client assets, and prevention of financial crime. Procedures at CEX.IO have passed the rigorous examinations of regulators and have been found to meet those standards.

“Gibraltar is one of the first crypto-friendly jurisdictions to license crypto-related businesses. We’re proud to be among the very few crypto platforms to meet regulatory standards and even surpass them. We interact with different regulators globally, and I find the GFSC approach one of the most thoughtful and relevant to dynamic crypto industries. This approach offers flexibility and opens room for healthy creativity and smart regulation.” — Oleksandr Lutskevych, CEO of CEX.IO

Since its birth in November 2013, CEX.IO has been implementing relevant regulatory requirements. In 2015, CEX.IO registered as an MSB (Money Services Business) with the US FinCEN, and its adherence to high standards of compliance procedures has been annually verified by an independent auditor. CEX.IO cooperates with regulators all over the world — including in Gibraltar, the UK, and Cyprus — in order to increase awareness of specifics in crypto and blockchain governance and differences compared to existing regulations. CEX.IO is transparent with regulators and government authorities about its operations, acting under the regulatory perimeter.

“Our ambition is to build a sustainable financial institution with aims to cover all needs of our customers and fulfill our mission of guiding them into the open financial system. We are building an ecosystem of services and tools that are relevant at different stages of the customer lifecycle. CEX.IO is already investing in new platforms to cover certain aspects of the growing crypto economy.” — Oleksandr Lutskevych

Gibraltar is building its licensing approach based on regulatory principles instead of a formal set of requirements and rules like those imposed on banks and payment institutions.
