

Chamber Announces Private Dining Partnership with Gusto Manchester

Wednesday 14 October, 2015

Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce has joined forces with Gusto Manchester to provide a private dining service for clients using its Meeting Centre in Elliot House on Deansgate.

The partnership between the two neighbours was struck in order to give Chamber members and non-members a more personalised and unique dining experience in the historic setting of Elliot House, catered for by Gusto Manchester with its classic and contemporary Italian menu.

Since moving into its new home on Deansgate, the Chamber has developed its Meeting Centre which now comprises nine meeting rooms, accommodating between two and 70 people. Private dining is available for parties of between eight and 25 in a number of the Chamber's rooms.

Commenting on the partnership, Gusto MD, Sue Crimes, said: "We are delighted to be able to offer our decidedly decadent dining experience in the Chamber's private dining room.

"With menus including sumptuous pizzas, enticing salads or indulgent special dishes, there is something for everyone's taste to bring a touch of luxury to your meeting or event within the Chamber. Created and served by Gusto's talented team, it will add a truly special touch. We are also pleased to be able to offer our Christmas menus as well as our a la carte menu."

Since opening the Meeting Centre earlier this year, the Chamber has welcomed companies from across the region to make use of its facilities. The team provides a bespoke package for each group enabling organisations of all sizes and sectors to meet, train, educate and network in a comfortable and productive environment.

Kat Eaton, Business Development Manager for the GMCC Meeting Centre, said: "Elliot House's beautiful meeting spaces, which include ornate stained glass, dark wood panelling and carved cherubs, are furnished in a modern, contemporary style helping to make the Centre a truly unique meeting space.

"We're incredibly excited to be working with the Gusto team to bring that extra special dimension to private dining events, creating an unforgettable experience."

Delegates booking rooms for October and November will receive 30% off advertised prices.
