

Charity expert comes to Norwich tinnitus support group

Wednesday 28 August, 2019

27 August 2019 An expert from the British Tinnitus Association (BTA) will be speaking at the next meeting of the Norfolk and Norwich tinnitus support group. The meeting will take place 2.00pm – 4.00pm Thursday 19 September at 14 Meridian Way, Meridian Business Park, Norwich NR7 0TA.

The group, facilitated by local hearing charity the Norfolk Deaf Association, enables people with tinnitus to meet others with the condition, hear useful tips on coping methods, find out what help is available and hear about the latest research.

Nic Wray, BTA Communications Manager will be discussing the latest tinnitus research focusing on the question “Will there ever be a cure?”

Nic comments: “I always look forward to coming to Norwich and speaking with the support group. Being among people who have tinnitus, listening to their experiences and how they manage it, can be inspirational. I feel I learn something every time I attend a group meeting from the discussions we have. It is particularly exciting to be sharing progress in research towards the much longed for cure.”

Tinnitus is defined as the experience of sounds with no external source, most commonly ringing or buzzing, but sometimes experienced as whooshing, clicking or even music. Around one in eight people experience persistent tinnitus. Many people aren’t troubled by sounds they hear, but for around 10%, the condition has a significant impact on their quality of life, often linked to stress, anxiety or sometimes depression.

Nic adds: “Tinnitus can be an isolating condition, and we’re keen to spread the word that there are management techniques which can help a person lead the best life they can, even if there is not currently a cure and to reduce the burden of living with this condition.”
