Charity Releases Free Father’s Day Greeting eCards

Monday 10 June, 2024

With Father’s Day in the UK and other parts of the world set for the 16th of June, charity ecard website Hope Spring, announced their Father’s Day ecard range. The announcement was made on their social media pages. The Hereford based charity unveiled a new line of free to send ecards and another line where a donation is required to send.

Hope Spring eCards was set up to raise funds for water poverty alleviation NGO, Hope Spring water. The greeting cards site has since become one of the organisation’s successful fundraisers. It started with Hope Spring supporters sending greetings and making a donation to the charity. The site has now evolved to allow the general public to send an ecard and make a donation. People who are not able to make a donation can send an ecard free of charge.

For the coming fathers day, Hope Spring eCards has uploaded over thirty new eCards, including a new specialist eCards for Welsh speakers. The Welsh eCards range depicts typical Welsh passion, such as rugby. It also includes some of the most scenic Welsh landscapes, from mountains in South Wales to landscapes in North Wales.

Speaking about Hope Spring eCards Father’s Day 2024 eCard range, platform manager Seun Olonade said “we are quite excited about the new range of eCards we have for 2024. One of our volunteers worked tirelessly to ensure that we have more than two dozen new eCards to offer on our website”. She added “we hope our supporters and other visitors to our website will like the new range”.

Hope Spring water uses the proceeds from their eCard website and other donations to build wells and boreholes in water poor communities in West Africa. You can find more information about the charity and their ecards on their website. You can see some of their projects on the projects section of their site.
