Todd Olson, CEO at Cleanerblast Systems LLC said "The best part of the ILO is license holders telling thousands of people about the important work we do. We appreciate we are not a high-tech company which often creates attention but a company that makes a difference in areas such as global infrastructure that affects everyone. The whole team at Cleanerblast would like to thank all of the CBS license holders for the support and goodwill you have all spread alongside the core marketing team at ILOCX who have been fantastic. Both the license holders and the ILOCX team have been extremely supportive and positive through these tough economic times. The ILOCX team is leading the way in helping companies such as CBS grow with the ILOCX platform."
