Community Payday Launch new corporate website

Thursday 15 November, 2012

Community Payday have just launched their new corporate website at www.communitypayday.com

The design of the website has been chosen to reflect the strong community values of the company. The architectural look and feel has been developed with the aim of a friendly approach and features colourful characters on the site.

Simplicity and customer usability was a major factor in the design, making the loan function as simple as possible for visitors to the site, taking only 7 seconds for money to arrive in your bank account if the application is successful.

The new Community Payday corporate website will help the company reach the forefront of the short terms loans market by offering the best quality service on the best platform.

About Community Payday:

Community Payday competes with High Street banks by offering customers quick loans and lower costs. They do this in a way that is responsible for their customers.

Community Payday provides Short term loans for when you need money fast. There is a choice of borrowing Â£100, Â£200, Â£300, or Â£400 over the period of 14 or 28 days. There is a Â£12 flat fee per week for every Â£100 borrowed. The system is also set up so that previous customers can apply for a loan via SMS text message for an instant service.

Applicants must be over 18 years old with no bad credit history and have been living in the UK for the last 5 years for a successful loan.
