Based in Portsmouth, Hampshire, Continox works with home and business clients throughout the UK. They make custom staircases that look stunning and meet all British building rules.

"We design and build high-quality staircases that transform spaces—not just meeting a need, but creating a striking architectural focal point," says Wojciech Iwanowski, Director at Continox UK.

Setting New Standards in Modern Staircase Design

Continox has changed the UK staircase industry with its focus on personal, advanced design. Each project starts with a full team process where client ideas become reality through skilled craftsmanship. They use detailed 3D images and exact CAD drawings to make sure the staircase fits perfectly with the building's style.

The company offers many types of staircases in Britain:

- Modern internal staircases
- Eye-catching floating staircases
- Glass balustrades
- External and fire escape solutions

Top British Craftsmanship

What makes Continox the best staircase specialist in Britain is how they combine old British craftsmanship with new building methods. Their team of skilled workers and designers creates staircases that are both strong and beautiful.

"Each staircase we create joins good looks with good function," Iwanowski says. "We use only top materials—from the best woods to exact glass and steel parts—to make staircases that look great and last long."

Fast, Quality Modern Stairs Project Completion

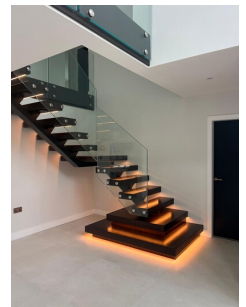

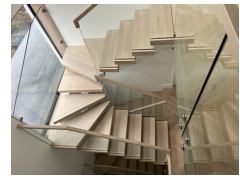

Continox has become the UK's most efficient high-end staircase maker without cutting corners on quality. They finish projects within just 4-6 weeks after design approval, with floating staircases ready in only 35 days—faster than others in this field.

With prices from £5,000 to £25,000, Continox offers British luxury craftsmanship for different budgets. All staircases go beyond UK building rules, giving clients peace of mind and great value.
