Coppa Cabanas to replace riverside igloos

Wednesday 3 May, 2017

Seven standalone “cabanas” and a huge hexagonal bar are to spring up on Coppa Club’s riverside terrace this summer, replacing the winter igloos which went viral on social media and became booked-up within the first week.

Right on the River Thames, the custom-made timber cabanas offer knock-out views of London’s iconic Tower Bridge, HMS Belfast and The Shard. With wisteria and roses growing up the pergola structures, the Mediterranean-style cabanas are furnished with outdoor sofas, wicker armchairs, festoon lighting, space heaters and individual Sonos speakers, giving the terrace an atmospheric garden feel.

Launching on Tuesday 2nd May, three of the cabanas can be reserved for private use with space for up to 8-10 people and two have a number of smaller tables for groups of 2-6. Right next to the outdoor bar, the other two cabanas are designed as riverside lounges, reserved for walk-ins only.

As well as plenty of very pale rose?, the riverside bar will serve a summer cocktail menu featuring a “Britz Spritz” (Kamm & Sons British aperitif, elderflower, Prosecco & soda) and a classic “Aperol Spritz” (Aperol, Prosecco & soda).
A new brunch menu will also be on offer for lazy weekend sessions, featuring Benedict Waffles (crispy sliced Coppa ham, eggs & hollandaise or kiln smoked salmon, spinach, eggs & hollandaise).

The first release of Coppa Cabana bookings will be available online only at
