Corporate Housing Platform Homelike to Launch in Belgium with 1500+ Apartments

Monday 27 July, 2020

Homelike, one of Europe's fastest growing proptech start-ups, has officially announced its expansion into the Belgian market. Homelike offers 1500+ furnished apartments in Brussels ready to be booked for periods ranging from 1 month onwards by business travellers, travel managers and companies from all over the world.

Homelike's tech-enabled booking experience drastically reduces the time it takes to book mid to long-term accommodation from days to merely minutes. This is enabled through multiple features such as instant booking and the ability to sign rental agreements digitally. The platform is loved by large corporate clients, who enjoy the high quality apartments available, the travel policy and analytics tools and the seamlessness of the booking process.

Why Brussels?

"Brussels is attracting highly-educated expats from around the world. The city's expat population has risen by 50% since the year 2000 driven mostly by EU institutions. We, at Homelike, identified a gap in the temporary housing market and sought to bring our convenient and flexible solution to Belgium. Brussels has been a highly requested destination by a lot of our customers and we are happy to offer many apartments located in the heart of the city close to the European Quarter. We've also made the apartment search super customisable by offering multiple filtering options such as price, apartment rules, amenities, flexible cancellation policies and much more", says CEO Dustin Figge.

As the city that hosts a majority of the European Union institutions, Brussels continuously attracts top talent and highly-skilled professionals from within Europe and around the world. In addition to being a cosmopolitan city with a substantial portion of its population being born abroad, Brussels also offers world-class education, making it a great option for students looking to build a new life. By providing fully-equipped, modern accommodations in Brussels that can be booked entirely online, Homelike allows everyone the opportunity to move without the additional challenge of finding a place to live upon arrival and setting up internet and utilities.
