

COVID-19 Positive Speed Dating

Monday 19 October, 2020

As swathes of the UK begin to face a bleak rest of 2020, London's speed dating company DateinaDash are set to ramp things up and see that everyone has a great time, come rain or shine! As the capital is set to move into tier 2 restrictions this month, everyone's safety is of paramount importance but that doesn't mean you cannot safely socialise and improve your overall wellbeing and mental health.

So, whether you're self-isolating with COVID-19 symptoms or have confirmation that you've contracted coronavirus and are in complete isolation, London's number #1 speed dating hosts now have the perfect speed dating event for you. Introducing the very first COVID-19 Positive Speed Dating event in London, now is the perfect time to safely chat and flirt with other like-minded singles.

No doubt you'll hit it off right away, find lots of common ground and interests to have a proper good laugh but one thing is for certain, as positive COVID-19 individuals you'll definitely have something in common! And to be honest, with coronavirus taking the world by storm since earlier this year there will be no better conversation starter than the ongoing pandemic. You'll definitely both have something to talk about, that's for sure.

As the country's population knows first-hand, due to the current restrictions it is super hard to socialise like before but not all is lost with Dateinadash's innovative new speed dating event in the capital.

COVID-19 positive and up for some singles fun? Buy a ticket to their upcoming virtual speed dating event today!

What to expect

DateinaDash guarantees you an evening of fast, fun and flirty speed dating from the safety and comfort of your own home. Expect to meet around 10-12 people on this unique virtual dating experience, attracting a great mix of people from London and the nearby surrounding areas.

All you need to be able to join in the fun is a computer with a webcam or camera smartphone (and a stable internet connection) and you're ready to go! Sit back, pour yourself a drink and relax as you talk to dozens of eligible singles without moving a muscle!

And if you're unlucky in love on the night, don't panic! DateinDash offer all their speed daters entry to any of their other upcoming singles events, absolutely free of charge thanks to their 100% Match Guarantee.

Still need convincing? Here's some of the official guidance in terms of what's hot and what's not when it comes to speed dating with COVID-19.

- You can continue to enjoy all of London's COVID-secure pubs, restaurants, shops, attractions and leisure venues. This means that after you've enjoyed your COVID positive speed dating event and more importantly, you've completed your isolation period, should you wish to meet up with your date in person, you can do so safely so long as precautions are taken and guidance is followed.
- If you're socialising outdoors, you should continue to observe the "rule of six". However, you must not meet indoors with people outside of your household or bubble. With this in mind, if you have a great virtual speed dating event with other COVID positive individuals and have remained isolated for the set period of time, why not meet up at any of London's amazing outdoor spaces, or inside a pub? Just remember, you won't be able to take the party back to your own place as this goes firmly against the Government's official guidelines and outside socialising between two interested singletons is absolutely fine. Boris says so himself!
- You should aim to reduce the number of journeys you make on public transport – walk or cycle where possible. This is obviously not only great for your own wellbeing and daily exercise, but it also reduces the amount of traffic on the roads, the amount of pollution we generate as a city and could even form the basis of a fantastic date. Stuck on ideas? Why not enjoy a 'Walk and Talk' date or even choose a scenic cycle path and go and enjoy a special picnic somewhere after you've both completed your isolation period? Whatever you fancy, just make it a good one!

In summary, if you've been thrown into isolation and feeling pretty low with no one to socialise with, just know you aren't alone. Dateinadash's brand new COVID-19 Positive speed dating event in London is going to bring together those in the same boat and celebrate being alive and well and looking for love.

2020 will definitely go down in history for the arrival of the global pandemic we are learning to live with, but maybe that's not all it'll be remembered for in your eyes. Love conquers all as the old adage goes!

Important Info

COVID positive speed dating takes place on Saturday 14th November at 7:30pm. Tickets are £5 for a 1.5hr session. Guests must have tested positive for COVID 19 or be self-isolating with symptoms to take part in this event.
