From what we have seen so far 2015 was a great year for the community; an exploration of the latest technologies, mediums and topics have all been taken to new heights. Flashback to the beginning of the year; the Annual 2015 not only contained some of the greatest creative work selected by our 63 esteemed judges; but it was all wrapped in a beautifully crafted package printed by the lovely team at Ambrose Press with 1,000 limited edition hardbacks on a gorgeous Fedrigoni Sirio Tintoretto stock. It all culminated with a wicked celebration party hosted by the super team at Mother London!

The Annual 2016 is growing again and becoming an even more desirable award to be acquired amongst the community. The exposure the publication sees is rivalled by no other creative award. With 15,000 perfectly bound physical copies to be printed, (as well a digital equivalent available online) the annual will be distributed amongst some of the top creative companies in the world. Last year appearing at Cannes Lions, Advertising Week: Europe & New York, London Design Festival, and all Creativepool events (not to mention it's digital distribution); this placement secures the chance to be seen by peers, colleagues and close competitors.

Michael Tones, Founder of Creativepool, said, "The caliber of work we have seen so far for 2015 is astonishing, everyone in the industry has been working incredibly hard, and they deserve to get acknowledged for it. The addition of new categories directly reflects the growth we have seen in the community this year, and we are excited to showcase the new talent in creativity and innovation. Also, this year's worldwide judging panel is something really exciting - we cant wait to announce it!"

The book will be underlined by a completely fresh layout and some remarkable artwork. This year there are more categories, more space, and a fresh new judging panel which is soon to be announced.

Some of the new categories to be added this year include:

- Advertising: Broadcast
