Enterprai, an early-stage start-up, to appoint Andrea French, former co-CEO and COO of Rokos Capital, as Interim Chief Executive Officer

Thursday 9 July, 2020

The board of directors of Enterprai will appoint Andrea French, former co-CEO and COO of Rokos Capital Management as well as a former partner and COO of Trading at Brevan Howard, as interim Chief Executive Officer.

Enterprai is an early-stage research and technology start-up building a next-generation smart desktop for investment professionals. The founders are assembling a leadership team of senior executives to ensure the sustainable growth of the organization, which is on a mission to drive the democratisation of quantitative insights in financial markets.

“Developing a leading product for the industry requires collective intelligence and proven experience in all aspects of building a company. We are excited to have Andy on board so early on in our journey. She brings an in-depth understanding of the industry we are looking to serve. The whole team is very much looking forward to working alongside her, and she is already contributing in a number of ways,” commented founders Wojciech Mucha, Tigran Atoyan, and Deyan Ulevinov.

Andy’s deep operational expertise will help the firm navigate the regulatory and commercial considerations of their partners, vendors, and key clients. With a strong track record in key leadership roles across a breadth of organizations, she will help guide the high-caliber team at Enterprai.

The partnership between Enterprai and Andrea is set until the end of 2020. During this time, she will oversee the refinement and execution of Enterprai’s corporate and commercial strategy.
