Event Academy Reaffirms Status as Industry Gateway via Global Agency Network

Wednesday 25 February, 2026

LONDON — Event Academy, the UK's leading provider of accredited event management training, has today highlighted the strength of its long-standing partnerships with the world's most prestigious creative and event agencies. By reinforcing its deep-rooted connections with global leaders, the Academy continues to provide a direct pipeline for talent into the international events sector.

Since founding in 2011, Event Academy has built and maintained active, strategic partnerships with many industry heavyweights, including M&C Saatchi, Jack Morton, Clarion, and Imagination. These collaborations ensure their event management course curriculums remain strictly aligned with the fast-paced demands of the international events industry. Furthermore, expert partners contribute directly to the training materials to reflect the latest global trends and technologies - a collaborative approach that guarantees students learn the most relevant and high-demand skills for today's competitive market. These world-class agencies regularly look to Event Academy to source the next generation of professional talent. And by working closely with them, the Academy can ensure their courses continue to meet the specific needs of modern employers.

Event Academy's "Degree Alternative" programme offers a highly competitive and efficient route compared to traditional university paths. This intensive course is specifically designed for those who want to start their careers without a three-year commitment. Focusing entirely on practical application and professional networking rather than abstract theory, the programme successfully combines expert-led lectures with high-stakes placements at leading global agencies. As a result, students can gain invaluable experience by working on live projects for some of the world's most recognisable brands. This direct industry exposure often leads to immediate job offers upon completion of the course, with graduates frequently able to enter the professional workforce two years earlier than typical university students.

Beyond the formal classroom setting, students also gain access to exclusive volunteering opportunities across London. These high-profile roles include working on major film premieres, television productions, and celebrity-led events. Such placements allow students to build a massive book of professional contacts while they are still in training. These hands-on experiences significantly bolster student CVs and demonstrate real-world capability to future employers. Every volunteering opportunity is designed to build confidence and practical knowledge in a live environment. By offering access to these valuable opportunities, Event Academy remains the primary gateway for those seeking a fast-tracked, successful career in event management.

With ever stronger agency ties, Event Academy's reputation in the higher education sector continues to grow. The network provides a supportive environment where students can transition smoothly from education into full-time roles. And by focusing on those employment outcomes, the institution has redefined what it means to be work-ready.

As the industry continues to evolve, these partnerships remain the cornerstone of Event Academy's success. New students joining the upcoming intake will benefit directly from this established ecosystem of professional excellence.
