Tuesday 30 June, 2015

Everything Bingo has sprung onto the UK market with a bright, fresh looking, website that brings together many leading bingo providers.

Online bingo has grown massively over the last few years and you only have to watch TV to see many adverts showing different companies offering different promotions, bonuses and offers. Playing online bingo has become a social pass time of choice as many offer chat rooms allowing players to interact with each other - and even with a host who can join in the fun or control any boisterous players!

Everything Bingo, owned by SC Gaming Limited, aims to create a community of visitors that regularly use the website to check the latest news, offers and promotions. They aim to to be at the forefront of the market to ensure if a new bingo sites appears in the UK market then www.everythingbingo.co.uk will feature it!

As well as a resource for bingo players, Everything Bingo aims to bring together a community of players who share information with others in the form of reviews. Each bingo website featured on Everything Bingo will allow it's visitors to review the site - say what's good and bad about the site and share information with others.

As the Everything Bingo community grows, and it's prominence in the UK market expands, they will be offering a regular e-mail news letter that will be distributed to those players that express an interest. The aim is to then reach out to bingo companies and gain Everything Bingo exclusives.

The owners of Everything Bingo have many years experience of building an internet brand and they are confident that Everything Bingo will become exactly that - a brand that is recognised and used regularly. Everything Bingo provides a clear, crisp and easy way to view online bingo sites - both on your desktop PC and on your mobile or tablet - it is a welcome resource to the UK bingo gaming public.
