Head to Plose, in South Tyrol and enjoy a family escape where fun comes naturally

Autumn in Northern Italy offers active outdoor adventures from dawn to dusk and exciting activities for all the family. With the mountains and forests looking at their most picturesque, and the annual fruit harvests in full swing, the Plose mountain region provides endless opportunities for exploration and discovery.

Plose is rich in local culture and rooted in the natural environment, with year-round activities linked to the changing seasons. In the Autumn, the forests and valleys become thrilling adventure zones, perfect for all ages. Go hiking, cycling, or horse-riding along the many mountain trails. Make magical memories on a horse-and-cart excursion or experience a fun-filled family alpaca trek. Visit local farms and meet the farmers and their animals, sample regional foods and discover what rural life is like in South Tyrol. You can even roll up your sleeves and learn how to milk a dairy cow or pick apples and press them into sweet Alpine apple juice.

Plose offers everything for the ultimate family holiday in the Italian mountains.
