Tuesday 14 February, 2023

First dates can be tough. Often filled with jeopardy, they are nerve-ridden moments where the stakes are high and the expectations often low. But how do we know if the date's going to be a hit or a miss - a thumbs up or just downhill all the way?

London-based ad agency isobel, in celebration of all-things cupid-shaped and romantic have swapped red roses for red flags and come up with the top 20 character-cues to alert first- daters that they are on a mission impossible.

Velcro wallets, no socks with shoes and referring to their mother as 'mummy' all make the cut. As does having a pet Instagram, riding a folding bike and clapping when the plane lands!

And at number 20? Not knowing what a red flag is...
