

FootballTips.com readers can now watch Sky Sports streaming live via Now TV for free - and with no deposit required!

Wednesday 1 May, 2013

NowTV, powered by Sky Sports, usually costs £9.99 for 24 hours of access to all six Sky Sports channels. However, FT readers can access the live streaming service completely free of charge!

Usually to access NowTV you would need a Now TV voucher code or alternatively would have to buy the 24 hour pass. But if you're looking for live streams of Premier League football, or want to watch live coverage of tennis, Formula 1, golf and more via your mobile phone, Android tablet, iPad or Xbox 360, you can do so WITHOUT paying the £9.99, thanks to Sky Bet, who are offering instant access.

With no contract, set-up costs or installation, NOW TV offers a new and flexible way to access great live sport on Sky Sports, including the climax of the Barclays Premier League and UEFA Champions League, as well as tennis, Formula One, cricket and tons more.

This offer is only available to Sky Bet customers who register via the website (if you register for Now TV via your Xbox 360, mobile device, telephone or by telephone, you will not be able to get free access).

Once you are registered, you can watch Sky Sports live either online or via your mobile device.

And when you join Sky Bet, not only will you get free access to Sky Sports, but you'll also get a £10 completely free bet! As soon as you join Sky Bet, they'll put £10 in your account - no deposit required. The free bet will be available as soon as you've opened an account.

And if you sign up before May 5th, you can get a completely free day pass for NowTV, meaning 24 hours access to Sky Sports - completely free!

To get your Sky Sports Day Pass, simply:

1. Follow this Now TV no deposit
2. Open an account
3. Once you've registered with Sky Bet, click the button that says 'Get Sky Sports Day Pass' to sign up and create a Now TV account. Then simply sign in, sit back and start watching.
