Forget expensive chocolates & flowers this Valentine's day: indulge instead in the sensual online gift that keeps on giving

Tuesday 6 February, 2018

Kamorii urges lovers to cut loose from traditional Valentine's Day gifts and invest in something far more beneficial to our intimate relationships.

> "While we should all embrace the spirit of Valentine's Day to the fullest, there are far more enduring ways to celebrate this festival of love. Kamorii encourages couples to take positive steps to improve their intimate relationships and learn more about their partners' bodies and desires." states Kamorii founder, Julia Akers.

By accessing the wealth of sexual techniques available on kamorii.com, Julia envisages that couples can put their Valentine's evening to far better use than simply splashing cash on momentary gifts.

> Julia adds "Why spend so much on unfairly price-hiked dining and roses once a year, when lovers can relish in far more thrilling and lasting adventures? Use this day to begin the journey of creating memorable moments that come in use for whole year and every year thanks to the countless activities you can try with kamorii.com."

For couples feeling fruity, one trip to the supermarket is all that is needed. Kamorii.com reveals suggestions for bringing out the berries, with one's partner becoming the serving dish. And for the kink-inspired? Rather than buying a dozen red roses, why not buy some red latex stockings for the same cost? Kamorii's Kinky Time Guide, written by Maya Liyer, a professional London-based dominatrix, has everything couples need to get started on a new and exciting kink-filled journey.

Stepping out to a swish restaurant can leave us lacking the energy to do anything but fall asleep when we arrive home. Kamorii's Tantric Sex Guide, again written by an expert in the field, offers you a whole suite of tantric activities to try out on Valentine's Day. These activities will deliver a far more treasured night indoors and will gift you whole new insights into your partner, setting you on the path to deeper sensual pleasures for the future.

If that is not enough, Kamorii's 86 illustrated sex guides;
1300+ high quality illustrations; 540+ Sex Positions; 110+ Sex Position Sequences and 180+ Kama Sutra positions, will entertain even the most adventurous of lovers.

> "A one-time payment of $25 combined with the desire to improve one's relationship and sexual technique is definitely worth more than a few hours of a dining and flowers," states Julia. "Valentine's Day comes only once a year but thanks to kamorii.com, you can develop the knowledge to do far more valuable displays of love each and every day."

Happy Valentine's Day and get prepared to watch your relationship bloom.

A special Gifting Offer is now available to couples for Valentine's Day. Purchase Kamorii for yourself and treat that special someone for only $10. You can also add your own personalised Valentine message. The perfect way to get your partner on board with exploring a whole new collection of intimate experiences.
