Foxtons Expansion Continues With The Launch Of Five New Local Offices

Friday 14 March, 2014

London's Estate Agent Foxtons is delighted to announce the opening of a further five new offices this spring, bringing its total network of offices to 49 throughout London and Surrey.

Greenwich, Beckenham, Earls Court, Harrow and Stoke Newington, will all open their doors between March and May. Stoke Newington will mark Foxtons 25th office launch since 2010 and forms part of its exciting expansion plan in order to accommodate the ever-increasing demand for London property.

Nic Budden, Chief Operating Officer, comments: "We have enjoyed operating in these areas for a number of years from our neighbouring offices, but now with a new office on their doorstep we look forward to playing an even more active role in the local community."

Each office will be run by an experienced and dedicated sales and lettings team, all bringing with them a wealth of knowledge and expertise. To celebrate these openings, Foxtons will be offering its pioneering 0% commission promotion, offering to sell local homeowners' properties for free.* They will also be holding a promotional weekend for each launch giving out thousands of free balloons and fresh-from-the-bakery muffins, so check the dates on Foxtons.co.uk and pop along!
