LAUNCHING in time for Christmas party season BookYourLifestyle.com makes it easy for you to book beauty, health and fitness appointments near you, now. Book your first visit before Christmas and you'll get a free set of Huda Lashes too.

From shellac nails to cut and styles, HD brows and even full body waxing BookYourLifestyle is here to revolutionise the industry. With up front photos and in depth profiles of each location, the ability to filter and compare results and a simple to use booking system, feeling good for the festive season has never been so effortless.

As the newest tech start up in the industry BookYourLifestyle.com was founded by successful entreprenuers Chris Houry and David Smith. Pioneers in the accommodation business, they led HostelBookers.com from start up to driving annual revenues of over $300m to over 20,000 properties per year. Their goal is to revolutionise the beauty, health and fitness industry in the same way, starting with London. Borne from a desire to support business owners suffering from cancellations and no shows, BookYourLifestyle is the much needed link between busy businesses looking for customers and busy customers looking for their services but have no time to find them.

Using BookYourLifestyle is easy; you search, you find, you book and you're done. No searching around on different sites for the best prices, locations, reviews and services, it's all there to find, compare and book 24 hours a day.

Co-founder of BookYourLifestyle.com David Smith comments; “We are delighted to see Book Your Lifestyle fully operational. We started with a clear vision to make it simpler and more rewarding to book beauty services online, for both our customers and suppliers alike, and with our launch to the public last month we have made our first great strides toward this.

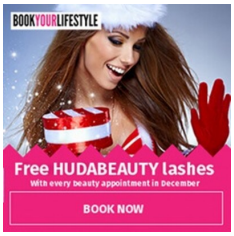

We have received a wonderful reception from our partners who have engaged with us from the off, and more recently from those customers who have made their first online bookings with us. It feels fitting therefore that we can give something back at the beginning of this holiday season with a fabulous gift to anyone that makes a booking."
