FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HARLETTE CAPITAL LTD CONFIRMS EXPLORATORY PRE-IPO DISCUSSIONS IN LONDON

London, United Kingdom – 20 June 2026

Following attending IAEA and UNOOSA meeting in Vienna at UN 9th June. Harlette Capital Ltd today confirmed that representatives of the company participated in an exploratory discussion in London 10th June regarding potential future capital markets opportunities, including the long-term possibility of a public listing on a major international exchange.

The discussion formed part of Harlette Capital's ongoing strategic review of funding pathways that may support the future development of its portfolio of businesses and intellectual property interests across luxury goods, beauty, entertainment, advanced communications, aerospace technologies, property development, and emerging innovation sectors.

Harlette Capital emphasised that these discussions were preliminary in nature and should not be interpreted as a commitment to pursue an initial public offering, capital raising, listing transaction, merger, acquisition, or any other corporate action.

The company is currently focused on the continued development of its intellectual property portfolio, strategic partnerships, commercialisation opportunities, and long-term growth initiatives.

Harlette Capital's management believes that significant opportunities exist across several of its target sectors and is evaluating a range of financing structures that could support future expansion. Among the matters discussed were potential long-term valuation frameworks, access to international institutional investors, and capital requirements associated with scaling global operations.

Management noted that certain strategic valuation scenarios examined as part of internal planning and market research contemplate enterprise values ranging from several billion dollars to substantially higher long-term outcomes. These scenarios remain conceptual and highly dependent on future execution, commercial success, market conditions, financing availability, regulatory approvals, and numerous other factors.

Harlette Capital is also evaluating opportunities to raise substantial growth capital in future years to support initiatives including:

- Global luxury and beauty brand expansion
- Film and entertainment production activities including 39 Anna Nicole Smith biopic and yacht stories
- Telecommunications and space infrastructure projects moon & mars
- Intellectual property commercialisation and licensing
- International property and hospitality developments
- Research and development programmes

Harlette DeFalaise, Founder of Harlette Capital Ltd, said:

"Harlette Capital was established with a vision of creating globally recognised businesses built on innovation, intellectual property, creativity, and strategic partnerships. Our discussions in London were exploratory and focused on understanding the pathways available to ambitious growth companies seeking access to international capital markets in the future.

While no decisions have been made regarding any listing or capital raising, we continue to evaluate opportunities that could support the long-term growth of the Harlette platform and create value across our portfolio."

The company stated that no timetable has been established for any potential transaction and that there can be no assurance that any public offering, listing, financing, or strategic transaction will occur.
