HCL Healthcare Confirmed on Health Trust Europe and London Procurement Partnership Frameworks

Wednesday 21 November, 2012

Following an extensive qualification, audit and tender process, HCL Healthcare has been awarded a place on both the London Procurement Partnership (LPP) and Health Trust Europe (HTE) Frameworks for the supply of locum and permanent Allied Health Professionals and Health Science Services staff to the NHS.

HCL Healthcare Managing Director Miles Davis says the framework contracts will drive cost savings to the NHS for its permanent and locum staff, whilst ensuring a high level of clinical governance.

“HCL Healthcare is delighted to be on these frameworks which collectively cover the entire country. Our experienced team is renowned for supplying specialist staff at short notice, and this win is reflective of our unwavering focus on quality and compliance.” Mr Davis said.

LPP and HTE Frameworks work with Trusts to make the most of purchasing power of the public sector in the UK and Europe.

“The Frameworks maximise investment in patient care and help to deliver high quality services while ensuring value for money, all of which is in-line with HCL Healthcare’s service offering.”

HCL Healthcare looks to demonstrate their capacity as a volume supplier on the new framework as well as build relationships with new clients and continue to deliver to existing customers.

Ends.
