Le Boat, Europe's largest operator of self-drive boating holidays and part of the TUI Group, has appointed lifestyle travel specialists Heaven Publicity to lead its UK PR activity.

As the first external PR agency to be brought in by the marine holiday company, Heaven Publicity will work with Le Boat to capitalise on the rising interest in UK and European boating holidays. As part of this, it will also support the launch of its upcoming new fleet of pleasure cruisers, designed with couples in mind, and help publicise its new range of cruising area guides.

A key focus of Heaven Publicity's trade and consumer media campaigns will be to challenge existing perceptions of boating holidays by showing the diverse and varied range of holiday experiences a boating holiday can provide, from the slow paced to the active adventure; as well as emphasising how Le Boat's on-board training before setting off means no previous waterway experience is required.

Lynsey Devon, Managing Director of Heaven Publicity, said: "Since working with Cheryl at TUI I've always considered Le Boat a true gem amongst self-catering holidays. For me the freedom offered by being afloat is matched by the opportunities to discover a new side to a destination - there are just so many great stories to tell along the way."

"We're therefore very excited about helping Le Boat spread the word on its active style of travel and highlighting how holidaymakers can dial up or down the adventure to create their perfect break."

Cheryl Brown, Le Boat's Managing Director, said: "After 40 years of helping travellers explore Europe's waterways and with so many product developments coming up we felt it was time for Le Boat to navigate uncharted marketing waters."

"Lynsey and her team share our philosophy that seeing somewhere from the water gives you a whole new perspective on a destination. With their injection of passion, travel expertise and powerful media campaigns we look forward to working together to inspire new audiences to enjoy the variety of experiences our Le Boat style of travel offers."
