Key Points

- Between 1.5 million and 2.7 million people consume cannabis at least once per month. 10 million people have consumed cannabis within the past year.
- The illicit market is worth between £2.9 billion pa and £8.8 billion pa.
- About 50,000 people consume legally prescribed cannabis on a daily basis.
- The legally-prescribed market is worth about £250 million pa.
- About 1.8 million people use illicit cannabis for medical purposes.
- Cannabis is the single biggest source of daily cashflow for organised crime.
- Legalising and regulating cannabis with a £1 per gram tax would deliver a net gain to the Treasury of between £3.3 billion pa and £9.5 billion pa.
- Experience of legalising and regulating cannabis in other jurisdictions shows a substantial reduction in underage use.
