

HPottur is looking for resellers in UK

Monday 5 January, 2015

The Icelandic inspired spa success are planning to go into the British market. In that manner, HPottur is looking for resellers.

HPottur is a Norwegian invention from 1870 (coil heater), and has a heating time on only 2 hours. It might look like a footed teacup from the 1920's or the "Tubsy tub" from the 1960's, but it is a lot bigger (takes up to six people). Compared to some of the other coil tubs on the market, the heating time is faster – and the design is more contemporary. This tub is also made for artic environment, with temperatures down to – 40 C. It is also the first outdoor hot tub with steam bath included.

Heitur Pottur is an excellent option for anyone looking for style and performance at an affordable price. It sure will heat things up for spas in UK!

You can enjoy a calm and peaceful bath, made by natural heating! The fittings are sure to make a leading statement and it is suitable for spas' use with no installation and maintenance cost.
