Reliability is one of the most sought after factors for employers and at Atlas Outsourcing Ltd it is one of the key elements they look for. Direct marketing specialists based in Liverpool, Atlas Outsourcing Ltd have outlined 8 ways to become more reliable.

Atlas Outsourcing Ltd strongly believe that a reliable business is run by reliable people. "Customers will continue to make business with a firm they can rely on," says Matt Stewart, Managing Director of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. "If they feel let down however, they will turn away and surely tell their family and friends about their experience." Reliability starts with every single person in the business and is crucial to the daily success. In fact, research reveals that reliable individuals are more confident, find it easier to foster relationships, live with integrity and carry a clear conscience.

About Atlas Outsourcing Ltd: <http://www.atlasoutsourcingltd.com>

Atlas Outsourcing Ltd have listed eight attributes that make individuals reliable. "Being reliable is not rocket science. Anybody who may struggle finding or keeping jobs or friendships, may want to ask themselves if their colleagues, friends or partners find they are reliable," say Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. The firm believes that anybody can learn how to be reliable:

1. Prioritise workload

Individuals can give the impression to be unreliable when they do not know how to prioritise their workload. "Think about the deadlines you have to meet and prioritise your work accordingly to the importance of the tasks," says Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. This will help individuals deliver results when they are due.

2. Never over-promise

Atlas Outsourcing Ltd live by the statement: "Under-promise, then over-deliver". Over-promising raises expectations in others. When the task cannot be fulfilled as promised, others may be disappointed. By delivering more than expected however, others will be impressed.

3. Learn how to say No

Some people have difficulties saying no because they want to help out their colleagues or fulfil all customer queries as quickly as possible. "As honourable as this may be, it is often impossible to manage everything at the same time. Imagine the disappointment afterwards," says Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. In today's busy work environment it is important to learn how to say no sometimes and focus on priorities.

4. Communication

"Communication is key," find Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. It is always important to constantly communicate with others. "If you are running late for an appointment, call ahead to let others know. If you are working on a project, make sure that all information is shared in order to avoid any negative surprises. If you cannot resolve a customer query immediately, keep in touch and inform them of the reason. Keep them updated," recommends Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. By keeping people informed they know what to expect and feel they are being looked after.

5. Follow through

In order to demonstrate reliability, it is important to follow through from start to finish. "No matter what you do in life, it is crucial to follow through until the end. Reliable people don't look for excuses not to finish what they started. They just get on with it," says Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd.

6. Be truthful

"Being honest may sound easy. Ask yourself when you participated the last time in gossip talk or told a lie to someone," says Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd. "Giving people the impression you are not telling the truth means that they will see you as a source of unreliable information." In order to build trust it is important to provide truthful information.

7. Respect other people's time

Atlas Outsourcing Ltd say: "As important as it is to prioritise and respect your own time, it is vital to respect other people's time." In order to be taken seriously, it is important to be punctual and to thank others for their time.

8. Focus on what you can control

Some people cannot develop further because they seem to focus too long on things they cannot control. "Make it happen, show people you are able to take on big projects and focus on the things you can control." says Matt Stewart of Atlas Outsourcing Ltd.

Based in Liverpool, Atlas Outsourcing Ltd are an outsourced sales and event marketing company. The firm is seen to be very reliable by their clients and as a result, MD Matt Stewart is currently planning to expand the business into at least two further locations by the end of this year.
