

Independent action movie Unit Eleven blasting onto screens!

Wednesday 10 April, 2019

Classic cinema meets high octane contemporary action. Local Sheffield-based independent film maker, Theo Cane Garvey, is set to screen his new feature film, Unit Eleven, for cast, crew and press, this April.

The much anticipated film is a tour-de-force of gritty, self-financed cinema, and is a TRULY independent feature film - over 10 years in the making! Unit Eleven contains action packed fight scenes, martial arts, high concept drama, out of this world explosives, and innovative special effects.

Filmed entirely in the UK at a variety of spectacular locations, Sheffield independent filmmaker Theo Cane Garvey continues to deliver incredible films using modest budgets and spectacular outcomes.

Theo has written, directed, produced and edited the film himself and after years of creating his project, the independent film scene is about to get a demonstration in action cinema.

Featuring celebrities like Larry Kenny (Thundercats, Red Dead Redemption), Mark Grist (Poet, battle rapper), underground and local musical artists, and with a poster designed by 2000AD / Judge Dredd legend Greg Staples, this action packed film is an explosive mix of well-choreographed fight scenes, intense and heart wrenching story lines and feel good camaraderie when there is nothing left but despair.

Unit Eleven is set to be premiered in New York later this year, but the Sheffield local, Theo, wanted his first press viewing to be in his hometown!
