Tuesday 17 May, 2022

[Pewsey, Wiltshire, UK]: On the 6th May, the visual mapping software Inspiration 10 was named the winner of the Education Resource Awards 2022, for the Special Education Resource or Equipment Category.

Inspiration 10 was described by the judges as innovative and exciting for the visual thinker and will help many pupils to think more creatively. Judges loved how the product was such an empowering tool and thought it an excellent way of resourcing visual thinkers of all ages.

Reeza Awoodun, publisher of Inspiration 10 had to say;

“We are absolutely delighted to have won this coveted education award for Inspiration 10. Despite the product being 36 years old, it is still considered as being innovative and exciting.”

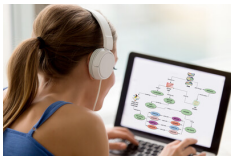

Inspiration 10 was one of nine finalists, following a competitive 2-stage judging process. Hosted by well known TV celebrity, Paul Sinha, winners were announced at a gala awards ceremony held at The National Conference Centre, Birmingham.

Inspiration 10 is used to create a variety of visual diagrams, maps, outlines, presentations and more. Combining visual cues, such as images and colour, with verbal cues, such as keywords and audio notes, the software allows users to create highly customisable documents that help with creativity, productivity, and knowledge retention. This is particularly effective for users with neuro-differences, mental health challenges and disabilities that affect their cognition, where Inspiration 10 often becomes a lifelong tool they depend on, in education, the workplace and personally.
