?Integral celebrate Which? highest badge of quality?

Tuesday 16 August, 2016

UK lighting brand Integral LED is celebrating the accreditation of several new Which? Best Buys. Since the brand's launch three years ago, the manufacturer has been recognised for quality on two previous occasions. Now, expert consumer reviewers Which? have judged three further Integral products as worthy of their prized 'BEST BUY'.

Integral LED's continued recognition for product quality and their rapid growth in the lighting sector has been attributed to their on-going investment in quality testing within their in-house lighting laboratory. The company's testing facility conducts a stringent regime of batch, spot checks, in-line and end of line tests in order to ensure consistency during the build.

Managing Director Sunil Kotecha commented "We are very proud to have achieved the recognition of seven Which? "BEST BUYS" over recent years. We are further delighted that one of our GLS lamps has been selected over two successive surveys. We believe our growing reputation for quality is a testament to rigorous testing and our investment in the latest proven technology".

Which? judged the following products:

Best Buy - Glass GU10 4.4W (50W Equivalent) LED Spotlight.

Best Buy - GLS 14W (100W Equivalent) LED lamp.

Best Buy - GLS 8.2W (60W Equivalent) LED lamp.

The UK manufacturer with a 25 year pedigree in semiconductor technology continues to expand its product range throughout residential and more recently into commercial lighting applications. Integral LED now offers a range of over 400 lighting products. Visit www.integral-led.com for more information.
