

IOI Futuretech UK releases Incarvexx Essential Nasal Spray, a sea water nasal spray with IODINE

Friday 27 November, 2020

LONDON, UK (NOVEMBER 26, 2020) — IOI Futuretech UK has just announced the release of the revolutionary nasal spray called Incarvexx Essential Nasal Spray, that contains "Iodine-V", a medical device which is available over-the-counter. It comes in 35ml bottles, perfect take-me-anywhere size.

It is already registered in the USA market (FDA) and waiting for the approval for the European market.

Using only sterile Aegean - rich in minerals - sea water and the patented "Iodine-V", Incarvexx Essential Nasal Spray is a must-have device when nasal hygiene is important. The gentle isotonic sea water spray is easy on your nasal membranes, keeps them hydrated and will not damage them. The spray can also be safely administered nasally or orally, a transparent tasteless and odourless solution.

Unlike many sprays, Incarvexx Essential Nasal Spray is non-allergic, free of gas, colourants, stabilisers, preservatives and also vegan-friendly. The recommended daily dose contains 50-100 microgram of iodine vs UL 1100mcg. The product should be used 2-4 times a day for best results.

Scientific details:

Iodine is known to eliminate all known airborne germs and pathogens, such as SARS-CoV-2 (Covid-19) or sessional flu.

"Iodine-V" is a complex contains only elemental iodine (I₂) and fulvic acid.

"Iodine-V" has been shown to eliminate 99% of the current Coronavirus (Sars-CoV-2) in only 60 seconds, and the results are expected to be published soon. "Iodine-V" has been on the market for years as food supplement called Essential Iodine Drops by Dr Köntös.

It is important to note that Incarvexx nasal spray contains only 0.02% "Iodine-V" with (I₂) and not iodide or iodate as most known "iodine" products do on the market. It is also classified as a safe product.

Incarvexx Essential Nasal Spray is now in production and will be available in February 2021.
