

ISG Secures £70 Million Office Fit Out Wins

Wednesday 7 May, 2014

ISG's UK Fit Out and Engineering Services business has secured six major office fit out projects with a combined value of circa £70 million in the last two months.

The largest project is a 140,000 sq ft fit out of the new UK headquarters for legal firm, CMS Cameron McKenna, at Cannon Place in the City of London. The Company is also pleased to have secured an 80,000sq ft project in the iconic "Walkie-Talkie" building at 20 Fenchurch Street, London, to fit out five floors for an international insurance and re-insurance underwriting group.

In addition two of the contracts have been won outside central London, with ISG securing a 63,000 sq ft office fit out scheme for a global professional services firm in St Peter's Square, Manchester and a 135,000 sq ft office scheme at the Bedfont Lakes business park in Middlesex for BP.

David Lawther, ISG Chief Executive, said:

"We continue to see sustained growth within the London office fit out market, where we are the clear market leader, and are now experiencing early signs of improvement across the rest of the UK as positive sentiment ripples out from the capital."
