

Johnny Cassell Announces First Workshops for 2023

Wednesday 14 December, 2022

Dating Expert Johnny Cassell has announced two more dating workshop dates in London, UK and Los Angeles, USA. The workshops will both run on the 28th January 2023, and offer a great opportunity for those wishing to hone their dating and personal development skills with the help of Johnny and his team of experts.

About Johnny

For those out there that are new to the dating and personal development field, you might be wondering who on earth is Johnny Cassell?

Years ago when Johnny was just starting out, he too suffered from issues with approaching women, and never really getting the success he craved with the opposite sex. After becoming frustrated with not being able to approach women, Johnny then decided to do something about it.

At this point, Johnny took dramatic steps to conquer these issues by reading a variety of different books on the subject, started to analyse human behaviours, looking at how those naturally gifted in this area would act in this environment, and really throwing himself into the dating scene to try and maximise his potential.

After building up his self-confidence, Johnny then really started to study those naturally gifted in the dating space more and began to break the process down into smaller pieces. This really helped Johnny on his path to becoming both very confident, and successful with women.

This, in turn, led top dating coach Johnny to help others to achieve the same success for themselves.

But Do I Really Need a Dating Coach?

This is perhaps the most common question that most of us will ask ourselves at this point. If you have reached a point of low confidence, and you feel that you are stuck in a rut in your dating life, then the answer to this question is most likely a resounding YES!

Johnny works with a team of handpicked dating experts, all with their own specialist areas, such as conversationalists, personal stylists, and body language experts. Together with Johnny, they will work on a variety of different issues such as:

- Confidence Training and Self-Esteem
- Conversation Techniques and Tonality
- Mastering Body Language and Non-Verbal Communication
- Dealing with Social Anxiety and/or Shyness
- Chat Up Lines / Indirect and Direct Conversation Openers
- Methods to Project Positivity
- Self Image
- Creating your Dating Profile and developing strategy and goals
