

Launch of Just Vintage Co

Tuesday 28 July, 2020

Just Vintage Co has recently announced the launch of their brand new online marketplace for buyers and sellers of vintage furniture, clothing and jewellery. The site was created to provide vintage clothing and vintage lifestyle enthusiasts with a safe and friendly community to buy and sell high-quality vintage pieces that each have their own story to tell.

Any independent brand, individual or store that sells vintage items is welcome to apply to become a seller at Just Vintage Co and there is no limit to the number of items that you can list for sale. All you need to do to open a store at Just Vintage Co is to visit this link. Simply register, fill in the details of your store and then connect to the PayPal payment processing platform to get started.

To help with the process, sellers will also be contacted by Just Vintage Co's seller success manager to assist them with the process and ensure that they know everything there is to know about becoming a successful store on the site. It is completely free for sellers to list products, but they will be charged a small final selling fee of 7%. The site's commission is collected based on the customers' chosen payment methods.

Buyers are also a priority for Just Vintage Co, and the site is dedicated to providing them with the best customer experience possible so that they can buy high-quality vintage items with ease. Items are separated into categories, including accessories, homeware, clothes, shoes and jewellery, so that the site is easy to navigate and items can be found as quickly as possible.

If customers don't receive their item after ordering or the item doesn't look as described, they will be entitled to a full refund if the dispute hasn't been resolved after 5 days. The brand is committed to making vintage items more accessible, and a spokesperson for the business said, "We are delighted to announce the launch of a UK marketplace where all vintage buyers and sellers can join our community."

If you're a lover of all things vintage or would like to sell your vintage items, don't hesitate to visit Just Vintage Co at their brand new website.
