Law firm expand and launch a Prestige Property Service

Thursday 2 July, 2020

At a time we saw the housing market frozen by the Government, North West firm Myerson Solicitors defy the odds to launch a Prestige Residential Property Service to its Residential Conveyancing department.

Head of Residential Property, Heather Adams commented:

“We are proud to be able to offer our clients a unique Prestige Residential Property Service, to help them protect their most considered investment.

We created this added offering to provide a bespoke, solicitor-led service, tailored to each client’s specific requirements, which are kept firmly at the forefront of our minds throughout the process.

This service helps us differentiate ourselves from other more traditional conveyancing firms as we don’t deal in bulk conveyancing and we don’t use automated systems to manage client files. Our personal prestige approach is delivered by a close-knit team of experienced, qualified and accredited solicitors, so clients can trust us to deal quickly with any complications that may arise and ensure that their sale and purchase stays on track and is communicated”.

The property market has never previously been restricted, even during World Wars, and so at a time when the conveyancing market was being forced into an almost full shutdown during the recent pandemic, Myerson have adapted and also been able to expand their conveyancing team with the recruitment of Senior Solicitor Zoe Olender.

Zoe said:

“We know that one of the biggest criticisms clients often have of their solicitor is that they are not kept informed regarding their transactions. I am thrilled to be joining a team that have evolved their processes around their clients and their bespoke needs.

With the property market now having re-opened, home buying and selling processes will need to adapt their working practices and it is more important than ever solicitors do the same and take the stress out of all the legal aspects of a transaction for their clients”.

Zoe has a breadth of experience in dealing with all aspects of residential property including sales, purchases, re-mortgages, transfers of equity, new build properties, flats, shared ownership, lease extensions, freehold titles, leasehold titles, registered land and unregistered land.

At a time, the residential market has slowed, it is great to see investment is being made in various areas including law, keeping the residential market innovative and current.
