

Learning Crypto Ltd Earns CPD Accreditation for Cryptocurrency Courses

Thursday 6 August, 2020

Crypto Education's platform, Learning Crypto Ltd, has announced that they recently achieved Continuing Professional Development (CPD) accreditation status for their cryptocurrency training courses.

Continuing professional development is expected of professionals in the UK. The Professional Development Consortium is home to the CPD Standards Office, the CPD Research Project and the Provider of Training Excellence .

Learning Crypto Ltd was awarded accreditation status following a rigorous assessment that focused on the development and delivery of their training, which included their educational authority and how they collect and utilise delegate feedback and ensure their content is up to date.

Learning Crypto Ltd now joins a limited number of education providers in the UK offering active accreditation on their cryptocurrency courses.

Commenting on the newly awarded accreditation status, founder and managing director of the platform Ash Davidson said:

'I am delighted that Learning Crypto Ltd has received accredited status in cryptocurrency. It's often hard to find companies to trust, and to be granted CPD accredited status for online cryptocurrency education is a big step forward for the cryptocurrency industry and for users seeking a good place to learn a growing industry.'

Learning Crypto Ltd offers a range of courses and products for beginners and seasoned crypto investors and traders who want to take their cryptocurrency education to the next level. The courses start from as low as £10 per month (includes a 7-day trial) with monthly subscriptions and payment plans.

Among the products listed on the platform are:

- Free Introduction to Cryptocurrency
- Understanding Cryptocurrency
- Beginner Crypto Trading Course
- Advanced Trading Course (Coming November)
- Learning Crypto Premium + Advanced Momentum Finder Indicator
- Premium Plus with cryptocurrency alerts
- Crypto Telegram Alerts
